

Dear Mrs Bellis-Knox,

I am writing to extend my sincere congratulations to you, your staff, and your whole school community on your recent recognition from the Secretary of State for Education for demonstrating strong attainment outcomes for disadvantaged pupils.

This achievement is a powerful testament to your leadership and to the vocation with which your staff serve the children entrusted to your care. Rooted in the Gospel call to dignity, justice, and service to others, your school's commitment to supporting the most vulnerable pupils reflects the very heart of Catholic education.

By placing compassion, high expectations, and care for the whole child at the centre of your work, you are enabling young people to flourish academically, socially, and spiritually. In doing so, you are not only raising attainment but also living out the mission of the Church through education.

Thank you for your faithful service, dedication, and commitment to all that you teach and all that you do in service of your pupils, families, and wider community.

Yours sincerely,

Joan McCarthy
